Denver & Rio Grande Western® Road Number D&RGW 6000

This 30' flat car is painted box car red with white lettering. It was seen running the rails throughout the southwestern U.S. on Bettendorf trucks. This series of 100 30' flat cars was built during the late nineteenth century and was numbered from 6000 to 6099. The railroad soon found they required cars with greater capacity and cars in this series were replaced with heavier capacity cars as needed. Some of these were still on the rails into the early 1940s.

New York Central
Road Numbers NYC 883180 / 883227

These PS-2 two-bay covered hoppers are painted gray with black logo and lettering. They were built in June 1956, serviced in March 1962, and runs on Bettendorf trucks. The principle commodity handled is cement with typical lading including cement, sand, potash, soda ash, lime, alumina, fertilizers, dolomite, soap, salt, plastic pellets and flour. Since many of these materials were highly corrosive, the two-bay hoppers are designed to withstand the inherent effects and keep maintenance regulations to a minimum.

Union Pacific®
Road Numbers UP 9147 / 9149

This 40' standard box car with double doors is painted gray with red The Challenger logo and white lettering. It was built in September 1939 and runs on Roller Bearing trucks. With the trucking industry becoming a threat, the UP needed to retain business where the haul was less than 500 miles. This created the "Over Night Delivery" concept—to meet the demand for next day delivery. The UP called it their "Challenger Merchandise Service". The cars were to travel with the passenger trains between overnight terminals. Since they were used in special service with passenger freight, the paint scheme had to match/blend with the passenger color scheme and yet be distinctive enough for the UP personnel.

Road Numbers 5669 / 3644

These GP-9 locomotives are painted black with aluminum and orange "Black Widow" paint schemes on the nose, red side and hand rails, and white lettering. They were built by General Motors Electro-Motive Division (EMD) in 1956 and 1957. An EMD GP9 is a 4-axle diesel locomotive built by EMD between January 1954 and August 1963. Power was provided by an EMD 567C 16-cylinder engine which generated 1,750 horsepower. Many rebuilt GP9s remain in service today with shortline railroads and industrial operators. Some remain in rebuilt form on some major Class I railroads, or as switcher locomotives.
