B&O / Chessie[®]
Road Number B&O 602903

This PS-2 covered hopper is painted yellow with blue logo and lettering. It was built in July 1969 by Pullman-Standard, serviced in October 1985, and runs the Allegheny District on Barber Roller Bearing trucks. The 4427 cu ft. design was Pullman-Standard's earliest mass-produced 100-ton grain car. Part of Pullman's Center Discharge line of covered hoppers known as PS2CDs. Grain is the primary commodity of these hoppers.

Canadian National
Road Number CN 704367

This 89' tri-level closed auto rack is painted with a black flat car, end racks and uprights. The roof is white. The car comes with white lettering with the 'Continuous Line CN' in white. There is a black 'Excess Height' message. It was built in 1975, serviced in February 1992, and runs on Barber Roller Bearing trucks. Frequently with tri-level closed auto racks, the flatcars were built by the car builder and the racks were built by an outside agency. Tri-level auto racks continued to be used predominantly for automobiles, while the bi-level racks were primarily used for light trucks and vans.

Missouri-Kansas-Texas[®]
Road Numbers M-K-T 2366 / 2370

These 50' standard box cars with single doors and no roofwalks are painted green with yellow logo and lettering. They were built in September 1965, serviced in August 1975, and run on Barber Roller Bearing trucks. The Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railroad was incorporated May 23, 1870. In its earliest days, the MKT was commonly referred to as 'the K-T', which was its stock exchange symbol; this common designation soon evolved into 'the Katy.' On December 1, 1989, the Katy was formally merged into the Missouri Pacific (MoPac) and ultimately joined the Union Pacific[®] Railroad system.

Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Road Numbers 231L / 231B

These A and B unit locomotives were built in March 1950 by EMD for ATSF as part of order 30208. They were rebuilt in October 1973 when 231L was converted to CF7. ATSF ordered many of their F7 A and B units to be run in groups of four and had them numbered the same with letter designators to indicate their relative position when working together: "L" designated the 'lead' unit; "C" the cab, or second A unit, and A, B or C for the B units. The 231L unit likely started its work on the rails followed by A unit 231C and B units 231B and 231C.

Great Northern
Road Numbers GN 35559 / 35564

These 50' standard box cars with double sliding doors are painted Vermillion Red with large white "Great Northern" and lettering in white. They were built in August 1957 and roll through the Northwestern District on Roller Bearing trucks. These double-door cars are two of thousands built by the Great Northern during the '50s to meet the growing demand for the larger doors, permitting the use of forklifts and larger loading devices. It wears the original 1957-letting with large slant serif "GREAT NORTHERN" lettering filling the side to the right of the doors, and a "forward facing Rocky" herald to the left. Many of this series were serviced and repainted into the GN Empire Builder paint scheme in the mid-1960s.
