Southern Pacific[®] Road Name Shasta

This Pullman heavyweight 3-2 observation car is painted the Southern Pacific's Olive Green with metallic gold herald, lettering, and road name 'Shasta'. It was built Pullman-Standard and then sold to Southern Pacific in 1930. Running on six-wheel passenger trucks, this observation car served the SP from 1930 through the '50s. The introduction of the steel cars brought the end of the luxurious, artisan-crafted, and custom designed wooden cars, which had been the rule since the 1880s. With the opening of the Pennsylvania Station in New York in 1910, and the Grand Central Terminal in 1913, passenger safety in the tunnels approaching these buildings demanded a more noncombustible material.

Great Northern Road Numbers NA

This 83' Pullman heavyweight 3-2 observation car is painted Pullman Green with metallic gold lettering. It was built by Pullman Standard in the mid-1920s and runs on six-wheel passenger trucks. The Plan 3959D observation car was the common "end-of-train" car style for many passenger trains throughout the early part of the 20th century. The introduction of the steel cars brought the end of the luxurious, artisan-crafted, and custom designed wooden cars which had been the rule since the 1880s. Pullman's Heavyweight construction was modular, making it possible for floor plans to economically evolve with the times.

Florida East Coast Road Number FEC 5007

This 50' standard box car with plug and sliding doors is painted red with white doors and roof. The modern FEC logo and lettering in yellow. It was built in 1962, repainted in 1981, and runs on Roller Bearing trucks. Henry Morrison Flagler A co-founder of Standard Oil, had created a legacy as one of America's most successful entrepreneurs when he took over the Jacksonville, St. Augustine & Halifax narrow gauge line and converted it to standard gauge in 1885. In September 1995, the railroad reached its 100th anniversary year operating as Florida East Coast Railway. FEC is one of the few railroads to survive to the present despite difficult times.

Denver & Rio Grande Western[®] Road Number D&RGW 15331

This PS-2 three-bay covered hopper with high sides is painted gray with large "Rio Grande Action Road" scheme in black as well as black lettering. It was built in March 1968 by Pullman-Standard and runs on Barber Roller Bearing trucks. This hopper is one of a group of 100-ton, 4427 cu. ft. covered grain hoppers and was numbered into series # 15250-15399. This group received the Grande's "Action Road" scheme, and many received their gothic reporting marks and road numbers upon servicing and repainting in the 70s. The design was Pullman-Standard's earliest mass-produced hoppers of this class, part of Pullman's "Center Discharge" line of covered hoppers known as PS2CDs. Barley and Petroleum Coke are the primary commodities of these hoppers.
