

NEW Lemp Brewing Co.
Road Number 1504

John Adam Lemp arrived from Germany in 1838; he established his brewery in St. Louis. He was able to utilize natural caves for refrigeration. His son William J. Lemp took over the business and built the Lemp Brewery industrial complex which still stands in St. Louis today. In 1903 Lemp Brewing registered the Falstaff trademark & logo. This first release of this series is painted dark green. The bold layered lettering spans the side of the car and is bordered in white. The colorful Lemp Brewing Co. logo is displayed on both ends.

NEW Smithsonian Civil War Series
Car #9: Battle of Vicksburg

The Battle of Vicksburg, Mississippi, also known as the Siege of Vicksburg, was another critical point in the war. In May of 1863, General Grant led his army across the Mississippi River and after a series of battles, forced Lt. General Pemberton's Confederate army into and around the city of Vicksburg. After 40 days of battle, Grant's Union forces gained control of the city as well as the Mississippi River, which President Lincoln felt was paramount to winning the entire war.

Lehigh Valley
Road Number LV 37049

This 50' gondola with fishbelly sides and drop ends was built in 1950. The 154,000 lb capacity gondola is painted green with white markings and rolls on Barber roller bearing trucks. It is one of a group of 110 gondolas that Lehigh Valley sold to the United States Railway Manufacturing Co. in Washington, IN. in February 1970. In an arrangement between these two entities, USRM reconditioned the cars then leased them back to LV. Coal was the major source of revenue for Lehigh Valley, which earned it the nickname, 'Route of the Black Diamond'.
